
GEOTECHNICAL INSTALLATIONS FOR PRESERVATION OF ARCHAEOLOGICAL MONUMENTS

PETKO SLAVOV

(S u m m a r y)

The article deals with the most necessary installations, used for preservation of archaeological monuments. They are presented in several groups, aiming to evaluate the geological conditions of the terrain, the seismic, climate and anthropological effects on the monuments. The specialized technics and software would be very useful for early prevention of the negative effects.