Scientific interests

The main area of my scholarly interests is the Greek colonisation of the western coast of the Black Sea and the development of the Greek poleis in the region from Archaic to Hellenistic times. A special place is reserved for Apollonia Pontica, where my fieldwork is focused. Among the subjects I am particularly interested in are the burial customs in the Greek necropoleis, the sanctuaries, and the Greek pottery from the Archaic, Classical, and Hellenistic periods. Another important subject are the relations between the Greeks and the local population – commercial and cultural contacts, as well as coexistence in the contact zones.
